

Below are some in-game screenshots and flavor text examples from Catpocalypse TD I've written. You can check out the game via this link.

Loading Screen Texts:

1. "Soft kitty, warm kitty, little ball of fur, raged kitty, martial kitty, war, war, war!"
2. "Cats can get frightened by cucumbers? To this day it remains one of life's great mysteries."
3. "Playing with cats using a laser pointer is fun. Until someone points the laser at your face."
4. "Ever wonder what cats dream about? Probably world domination."
5. "Whenever a cat plays with a yarn ball, a granny somewhere faints."
6. "Most cats prefer cardboard boxes over pricey cat-houses, mostly because they like seeing their owners pissed and bankrupt."
7. "It's rumored that cats see ghosts when they stare at nothing. In truth they simply enjoy messing with humans."

Cat Types

- Regular Cat:

The "Stray" class regular cats are the most common felines you'll encounter. But don't let their familiar looks lower your guard.

- Heavy Cat:

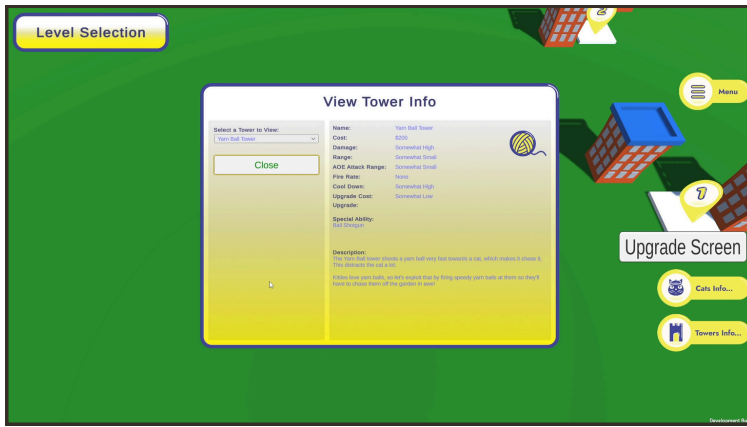

The "Tombili" class heavy cats are known for their hefty bodies. These chunky boys are harder to divert but aren't as fast as their lighter mates.

- Light Cat:

The "Nyan" class light cats are swift and dangerous. If not stopped early on, they can rush through the garden one after another.

- Box Cat:

The "Amazon" class box cats may look silly, but they're smart enough to put a cardboard box on their head to bypass some towers

Tower Types:

- Laser Tower:

It's common knowledge that a cat will follow laser pointers, making this tower the perfect path diversion machine!

- Cucumber Launcher Tower:

Science can never tell why cats got bamboozled by cucumbers, but since they are, launching cucumbers at them will surely distract them from everything!

- Yarn Ball Tower:

Kitties love yarn balls, so let's exploit that by firing speedy yarn balls at them so they'll have to chase them off the garden in awe!

- Scratching Post Tower:

Cats love scratches and can never say no to them. These scratch-post projectiles should keep them pinned on contact!

- String Weaver Tower:

A cat can watch a granny weave for hours, we don't have any granny towers, but this string weaver would do just fine to distract the nearby felines!